BUDGET DATA REQUEST NO. 18-16

MEMORANDUM PROGRAM DEPUTY ASSOCIATE DIRECTORS

FOR:

FROM: Dave Rowe
Deputy Assistant Director for Budget

SUBJECT: Preparation of the DATA Act Program Activity Validation List

Due Dates: Agency review and approval of program activities: COB Monday, January 22, 2018

RMO review of agency changes: Noon Thursday, January 25, 2018

Affected Divisions: All RMOs. This BDR should be shared with agencies.

Contacts:

- General Questions: Victoria Collin (b) (6)
- Agency-specific questions: OMB RMO contact(s)
- Technical Questions on Accessing the MAX Community and Using MAX Collect: MAX Support (b) (6)

Key Links:

- The following MAX Community page has been set up for this exercise: (b) (6)
- More background information about the DATA Act in general can be found here: (b) (6)

Purpose: To update the list of program activities that agencies reported on under the DATA Act for FY 2017 Q4, for FY 2018 Q1 reporting. Agencies will also be asked to make updates on a quarterly basis going forward. This BDR continues the quarterly reporting requirement included in BDR 17-09, with an updated MAX Collect exercise that agencies will be asked to review each quarter. OMB will use this list as a validation source for agencies' DATA Act reporting by program activity. Agencies should review the MAX Collect exercise by the deadline above; if they have updates, they should update this program inventory, if they have no updates, they should affirmatively indicate this in the exercise.

Background: The Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act of 2006, as amended by the Digital Accountability and Transparency Act of 2014 (DATA Act), requires agencies to report on any funds made available to or expended by a Federal agency, including information about appropriated spending by program activity and object class. Agencies submitted their first complete DATA Act submission on April 30, 2017.

In order to ensure accurate and complete submissions of data by each agency, OMB created a MAX Collect exercise for agencies to use, on an ongoing basis, to provide the Department of the Treasury with a regularly updated list of program activities. This exercise includes updates to this list that agencies made in response to BDR 17-09, as well as the first round of updates submitted through MAX Collect for FY 2017 Q4 reporting. The program activity list is one of many validations against which agency submissions will be checked and confirmed.

Note: In response to agency, Treasury, and RMO feedback, OMB has made further improvements to the exercise, including altering the process to streamline RMO review and to provide Treasury a complete list of program activities for the quarter rather than changes only.

In a small number of instances, agencies may wish to make changes to the names of program activities in MAX Collect, which were based on data originally reported in the FY 2018 Budget database and updated by agencies since then. Agencies most recently had an opportunity to make updates in FY 2017 Q4. This BDR gives agencies an opportunity to make these changes for FY 2018 Q1 reporting. To ensure the data submitted to USASpending.gov matches the President's Budget, agencies will have the opportunity to update this list each quarter.

In addition, agencies may wish to add program activities under $1 million for the purposes of DATA Act reporting that are not included in the Program & Financing Schedule in the President's Budget. RMOs should approve any changes agencies make prior to finalizing the list for the purpose of serving as a validation.

Action required:

1. Agencies should review and make any changes to their program activities in the MAX Collect Exercise (either add, remove, or change a program activity title) by COB Monday January 22. To expedite RMO review, agencies should take care to fill out the 'Change Type' column noting whether a program activity title has been added, updated, left unchanged, or to flag it for deletion. Note: Agency permissions for this exercise are not limited by the exercise at this time. Agencies are responsible for establishing a point of contact to reviewing the Department's submission, and ensuring that POC promotes it for RMO review.
2. RMOs should review any agency changes that are officially promoted by the agency POC listed above, (checking the history or "last edited status" to confirm the POC made the changes. If any changes are rejected, the RMO must work with the POC until the list is accurate and ready to pass to Treasury. The deadline to review, update, and approve the list in the MAX Collect exercise is Thursday January 25 at 12:00PM.
3. Agencies and RMOs should repeat this process each quarter. In future quarters, the deadline for agency updates will occur one week prior to the GTAS closing date for the quarter. The RMO Review deadline will occur on the GTAS closing date. Agencies and RMOs should "watch" the relevant agency pages of the MAX Collect Exercise to receive email updates when a change is made.
4. Agencies wishing to "test" their DATA Act submissions in the broker for errors/warnings prior to certification should be aware that their updated program activities will only be made available to the Broker after their changes have passed RMO Review and been promoted to the final Broker Upload stage.

Additional Guidance:

ALL agencies MUST review the MAX Collect exercise and indicate whether or not they wish to make changes for the quarter using the dropdown box. After making all updates, or as soon as they determine there are no changes for the quarter, agencies should promote the exercise to the RMO Review (OMB Review) phase.

If an agency wishes to make a change, that agency MUST fill out all relevant columns of the MAX Collect exercise, except for OMB Bureau Title, OMB Account Title, and Notes for RMO (which are optional), in order to have their program activity changes considered.

Only program activities relevant to the current quarterly submission should be included in the exercise. Historical program activities should not need to be included in the exercise, except insofar as they remain relevant for the current quarter's DATA Act submission.

Instead of deleting a row completely, agencies should mark it as 'deleted' in the change type column. This expedites RMO review.

All agency proposed changes will be compiled together in the MAX Collect exercise. From January 19 to January 25, RMOs will review their agencies' submissions and approve or disapprove the proposed changes. If they disapprove, RMOs must work with the agency POC to update the list (until it is acceptable to pass on to Treasury) by the deadline.

The final approved list will be available to Agencies in the Treasury Broker on January 26, 2017, and each quarterly reporting deadline thereafter.

Agencies making changes to their program activity in a given quarter should wait to certify their DATA Act quarterly submission until their program activity changes have been approved and exported to Treasury.

Subject: Update on Appropriations

Dear Colleagues –

Unfortunately, the Congress did not act in time for the President to sign a Continuing Resolution before the current appropriations expired. Therefore, agencies should start to execute their plans for an orderly shutdown.

- OMB Memoranda M-18-06 instructing agencies to commence an orderly shutdown is posted here:

<https://www.whitehouse.gov/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/M-18-06.pdf>

- In addition, agencies should reference OMB Bulletin 18-01 regarding Apportionment of Obligational Authority for Necessary Agency Operations in the Absence of Fiscal Year 2018 Appropriations. Link here:

These documents will soon be posted to our website, and we will send the links when they are available.

OMB is closely monitoring developments and will communicate with this group as updates become available. If the lapse continues into next week, OMB will plan to host daily agency calls beginning Monday afternoon.

Best,
Kelly

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Mick Mulvaney
Director

SUBJECT: Status of Agency Operations

Appropriations provided under the Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2018 (Division D of P.L. 115-96, as amended) expired at 11:59 pm, January 19, 2018. Unfortunately, we do not have a clear indication that the Congress will act in time for the President to sign a Continuing Resolution before the end of the day tomorrow. Therefore, agencies should now execute plans for an orderly shutdown due to the absence of appropriations. We urge the Congress to act quickly to pass a Continuing Resolution and to restore the operation of critical public services and programs that will be impacted by a lapse in appropriations.

Agencies should continue to closely monitor developments, and OMB will provide further guidance as appropriate. We greatly appreciate your cooperation and the work you and your agencies do on behalf of the American people.

Good evening –

The President has signed a CR through February 8. The legislation signed by the President also included provisions to ensure that employees furloughed during the lapse will receive back pay.

The OMB Director has signed a memo reopening Federal Departments and Agencies, and directing Federal employees to return to work at the start of their next scheduled work day. The memo is attached, and will be posted to our website shortly.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Mick Mulvaney

SUBJECT: Reopening Departments and Agencies

This memorandum follows the January 20th memorandum M-18-06, and updates the status of appropriations for Fiscal Year 2018.

Today, the President signed a continuing resolution that brings employees back to work and reopens all government functions shut down during the lapse in appropriations. All employees who were on furlough due to the absence of appropriations should now return to work.

You should reopen offices in a prompt and orderly manner.

We appreciate very much your cooperation and efforts during this difficult period. Thank you and your teams for your service and your continued work on behalf of the American people.

Subject: M-19-08: Preparing for an Orderly Reopening Following the Partial Lapse in Appropriations
Date: Friday, January 25, 2019 3:20:09 PM

Although the partial lapse in appropriations has not ended, M-19-08 directs agencies to prepare for an orderly reopening that carefully considers the timing and necessary steps needed to restart operations in a manner consistent with each agency's mission and with appropriate consideration for preserving the life, health, and safety of employees, contractors, and the general public.

THE DIRECTOR

January 20, 2018

OMB BULLETIN No. 18-01

TO THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ESTABLISHMENTS

SUBJECT: Apportionment of Obligational Authority for Necessary Agency Operations in the Absence of Fiscal Year 2018 Appropriations

1. Purpose and Background. The Continuing Appropriations Act, 2018, Division D of Public Law 115-56, as amended (the "CR"), provides funding and authority for agencies to operate through the end of January 19, 2018. Because a bill providing appropriations beyond January 19 has not been enacted, there will be a lapse in appropriations beginning on January 20, 2018, in those appropriation accounts subject to the termination date in the CR. Any balances that were appropriated by the CR and apportioned by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) are not available for obligation during the lapse in appropriations.

During a lapse in appropriations, each agency must operate in accordance with the contingency plan that the agency has prepared under OMB Circular A-11, section 124 and the applicable guidance that has been issued by the Department of Justice and OMB.

In order for agencies to implement their contingency plans, and as specified in section 2 below, I am automatically apportioning the obligational authority as provided by the Antideficiency Act that is necessary for agencies to incur obligations in accordance with their contingency plans during the duration of the lapse in appropriations.

2. Automatic Apportionment. I automatically apportion amounts necessary for obligations required in order to carry out your agency's contingency plan required by OMB Circular A-11, section 124. As a reminder, this automatic apportionment provides authority to incur obligations, but does not provide any authority to liquidate such obligations. This automatic apportionment does not affect previously approved FY 2018 apportionments for non-CR related funds (e.g., carryover amounts from multi-year funding). Therefore, agencies should continue to operate under such previously approved apportionments for those other funding sources.

3. Reporting. Following enactment of a subsequent continuing resolution or full-year appropriation, you may be required to provide your RMO an accounting of amounts obligated during this lapse in appropriations.

The Continuing Appropriations Act, 2018, Division D of Public Law 115-56, as amended (the "CR"), provides funding and authority for agencies to operate through the end of February 8, 2018. Because a bill providing appropriations beyond February 8 has not been enacted, there will be a lapse in appropriations beginning on February 9, 2018 in those appropriation accounts subject to the termination date in the CR. Any balances that were appropriated by the CR and apportioned by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) are not available for obligation during the lapse in appropriations (including appropriations made available to multi-year and no-year TAFS by the CR).

During a lapse in appropriations, each agency must operate in accordance with the contingency plan that the agency has prepared under OMB Circular A-11, section 124 and the applicable guidance that has been issued by the Department of Justice and OMB.

In order for agencies to implement their contingency plans, and as specified in section 2 below, I am automatically apportioning the obligational authority as provided by the Antideficiency Act that is necessary for agencies to incur obligations in accordance with their contingency plans during the duration of the lapse in appropriations.

2. Automatic Apportionments. I automatically apportion amounts necessary for obligations required in order to carry out your agency's contingency plan required by OMB Circular A-11, section 124. As a reminder, this automatic apportionment provides authority to incur obligations, but does not provide any authority to liquidate such obligations. This automatic apportionment does not affect previously approved FY 2018 apportionments for non-CR related funds (e.g., carryover amounts from multi-year funding). Therefore, agencies should continue to operate under such previously approved apportionments for those other funding sources.

3. Reporting. Following enactment of a subsequent continuing resolution or full-year appropriation, you may be required to provide your RMO an accounting of amounts obligated during this lapse in appropriations.

M-18-10

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Mick Mulvaney
Director

SUBJECT: Status of Agency Operations

Appropriations provided under the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2018, Division D of Public Law 115-56, as amended, expire at 11:59 pm tonight, February 8, 2018. Unfortunately, the Congress has not taken action to pass a bill providing for continuing appropriations before midnight. Therefore, agencies should now execute plans for an orderly shutdown due to the absence of appropriations.

Although we are hopeful that this lapse in appropriations will be of short duration, employees should report to work for their next regularly-scheduled tour of duty to undertake orderly shutdown activities. We will issue another memorandum reopening government functions once the President has signed a bill providing for appropriations.

We urge the Congress to act quickly to pass a Continuing Resolution and to restore the operation of critical public services and programs that will be impacted by a lapse in appropriations.

The OMB Director has signed a memo reopening Federal Departments and Agencies. The memo is attached, and will be posted to our website shortly.

One clarification to a previous note: the language that provides back pay for Federal workers who may have been furloughed between midnight and when the President signed the bill into law ended up passing as a separate bill, and was not included in the CR. (b) (5)

Senior Accountable Officials,

We wanted to let you know about two resources that were posted this morning.

First, OMB posted a controller alert titled "Controller Alert: Acknowledging Inconsistent Records For A Subset Of Public Financial Assistance Data For Entity Address Zip+4." The Alert has information about the temporary inconsistency between USAspending.gov and SAM.gov information for the entity address ZIP+4. It is posted here: <https://cfo.gov/2017/04/03/controller-alert-acknowledging-> inconsistent-records-for-a-subset-of-public-financial-assistance-data-for-entity-address-zip4/.

Second, based on agency feedback, OMB developed some standard language agencies may use when certifying their submissions in the Broker. Pursuant to Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memoranda MPM 2016-03 and M-17-04, agencies must provide a quarterly assurance that their agency's internal controls support the reliability and validity of the agency account-level and award-level data reported for display on USAspending.gov. In order to give agencies the opportunity to explain to the public known issues that may affect the timeliness, accuracy, or completeness of their data, or to highlight where their submissions go beyond current requirements, agencies may submit additional information with their data submission. Based on agency feedback on these known circumstances that will affect data submissions, OMB has developed several standard statements agencies may use to consistently explain circumstances affecting multiple agencies. Those statements are posted on MAX here: (b) (6) It is also attached to this email.

SAC Colleagues,

As mentioned below, OFPP will be hosting at least two workshops to help disseminate information and resources to help you with your analysis and planning, and to provide a forum to share ideas on how best to reform. Because there appears to be great interest and limited space, if you haven't done so already, can you please RSVP for the upcoming meeting on April 28 (10 to noon at GSA HQ, Room 1461) to Joanie Newhart at (b) (6). The meetings are entirely optional and participants targeted are the staff member(s) leading the effort for the SPE. The planned agenda for the meeting is below. We are glad to share information from the meeting if you are unable to attend. If you have any questions, please contact Joanie.

Summary of OMB Memorandum “Comprehensive Plan for Reforming the Federal Government and Reducing the Federal Civilian Workforce”

Agency Reform Plans

Today’s guidance requires all agencies to:

- Begin taking immediate actions to achieve near-term workforce reductions and cost savings, including planning for funding levels in the President’s Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 Budget Blueprint;
- Develop a plan to maximize employee performance by June 30, 2017; and
- Submit an Agency Reform Plan to OMB in September 2017 as part of the agency’s FY 2019 Budget submission to OMB that includes long-term workforce reductions.

To assist agencies in delivering on the guidance, OMB will hold Agency Reform Plan meetings this July. The meetings will occur in lieu of the FedStat and Strategic Reviews that normally occur during the summer. To inform these meetings, agencies must provide OMB the following items by June 30th:

(b) (5)

In addition, OMB is providing agencies with supplemental tools to support development of their plans through (b) (6). These tools address:

(b) (5)

OMB-coordinated crosscutting reforms

The guidance notes that OMB will work with agencies to identify areas and activities that should be eliminated, restructured, or consolidated across departments in order to create a leaner, more effective, more accountable government. Executive Councils like yours have a strong tradition of identifying and tackling cross-agency needs and goals. OMB looks forward to engaging the councils in the process to develop crosscutting reforms and will provide additional information in the coming days. We are also working to align this process with the development of Cross-Agency Priority (CAP) Goals and the President's Management Agenda.

Public input

To make sure that voices of the American people are heard, the White House is soliciting suggestions from the public at this website <https://whitehouse.gov/reorganizing-the-executive-branch>. The White House will provide public comments to agencies as appropriate for consideration in their Agency Reform Plans.

Subject: M-19-15: Improving Implementation of the Information Quality Act
Date: Wednesday, April 24, 2019 11:34:12 AM

The purpose of this Memorandum is to reinforce, clarify, and interpret agency responsibilities with regard to responsibilities under the Information Quality Act (IQA). In 2002, the Office of Management and Budget issued Guidelines for Ensuring and Maximizing the Quality, Objectivity, Utility and Integrity of Information Disseminated by Federal Agencies (“Guidelines”). The principles and core responsibilities described in the Guidelines remain sound and relevant for agency practice; however, additional guidance is required to address changes in the information landscape and to incorporate best practices developed over time.

This Memorandum updates implementation of the Guidelines to reflect recent innovations in information generation, access, management, and use, and to help agencies address common problems with maintaining information quality.

Thanks again for coming to the workshop this morning. It was great to see all of you. Special thanks to Cathy Higginbotham and Tom Burgess for presenting their agency success stories. As promised, here are e-copies of the handouts. As I mentioned in the meeting, if there are resources you would like to share, just let me know. The collaboration page should be up either Monday or Tuesday, but the resources document has plenty to get you started.

OPM is holding a workforce reshaping workshop on Thursday, May 4 from 1 to 3 PM at OPM in the Campbell Auditorium. The link to register is (b) (6). If you have any questions for OPM, you can send them to workforce@opm.gov.

We're planning a follow-on workshop on Friday, May 12 from 1 to 3 PM at GSA HQ, 1800 F Street, Room 1153. This next workshop will not be a repeat of this workshop, but instead will be a follow-on to share ideas, best practices, and questions as we get further down this journey. If anyone has a success story to share, let me know and I'll give you time on the agenda.

I've also attached the attendee list for today along with some folks who wanted to attend, but couldn't make it. Have a great weekend!

Date: Wednesday, May 10, 2017 9:34:56 AM

Good morning, I hope you found the first workshop helpful. Our next workshop is planned for this Friday from 1 to 3 PM at GSA HQ, Room 1153. You are welcome to attend or send a colleague – or both! I’ve lined up some agency folks to share what they’re doing in the way of simplifying and improving the acquisition process and thinking how to reimagine technology procurement as you’re looking at your workforce. If you’d like to attend, please let me know as soon as possible. Thanks!

Colleagues, we are planning another workforce reshaping workshop this Friday, May 12 from 1 to 3 PM at GSA HQ, 1800 F Street, Room 1153. The workshop is entirely voluntary and the participants targeted are the staff members leading the effort for the SPE (although all who are interested are welcome). So far, we’ve lined up the OMB lead for the workforce reshaping effort and also OPM who has developed resources to assist us. If you have an agency acquisition success story in the area of a reorg, process improvement or other acquisition function improvement and would like to share that, please let Joanie Newhart know at (b) (6) and we will be glad to add you to the agenda.

We will make sure to have plenty of time for sharing and collaboration as we go down this journey together. In order to ensure we have sufficient space, please RSVP to Joanie if you have not already done so.

The overall government reform effort has a MAX page at (b) (6)
There is also an acquisition-focused page at (b) (6). We are in the process of posting resources at the acquisition-focused page, in the meantime, we’ve attached a handout from the first meeting that lists helpful resources and considerations. We look forward to seeing you on Friday!

Summary of OMB Memorandum “Comprehensive Plan for Reforming the Federal Government and Reducing the Federal Civilian Workforce”

Agency Reform Plans

Today’s guidance requires all agencies to:

- Begin taking immediate actions to achieve near-term workforce reductions and cost savings, including planning for funding levels in the President’s Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 Budget Blueprint;
- Develop a plan to maximize employee performance by June 30, 2017; and
- Submit an Agency Reform Plan to OMB in September 2017 as part of the agency’s FY 2019 Budget submission to OMB that includes long-term workforce reductions.

To assist agencies in delivering on the guidance, OMB will hold Agency Reform Plan meetings this July. The meetings will occur in lieu of the FedStat and Strategic Reviews that normally occur during the summer. To inform these meetings, agencies must provide OMB the following items by June

(b) (5)

In addition, OMB is providing agencies with supplemental tools to support development of their plans through (b) (6) These tools address:

(b) (5)

OMB-coordinated crosscutting reforms

The guidance notes that OMB will work with agencies to identify areas and activities that should be eliminated, restructured, or consolidated across departments in order to create a leaner, more effective, more accountable government. Executive Councils like yours have a strong tradition of identifying and tackling cross-agency needs and goals. OMB looks forward to engaging the councils in the process to develop crosscutting reforms and will provide additional information in the coming days. We are also working to align this process with the development of Cross-Agency Priority (CAP) Goals and the President's Management Agenda.

Public input

To make sure that voices of the American people are heard, the White House is soliciting suggestions from the public at this website <https://whitehouse.gov/reorganizing-the-executive-branch>. The White House will provide public comments to agencies as appropriate for consideration in their Agency Reform Plans.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Mick Mulvaney
Director

SUBJECT: Reporting Guidance for Executive Order on Strengthening the Cybersecurity of Federal Networks and Critical Infrastructure

Overview and Purpose

On May 11, 2017, the President signed the Executive Order on Strengthening the Cybersecurity of Federal Networks and Critical Infrastructure, which outlines a number of actions to enhance cybersecurity across Federal agencies and critical infrastructure partners. Section 1 of the Executive Order reinforces the Federal Information Security Modernization Act of 2014 (FISMA) by holding agency heads accountable for managing the cybersecurity risks to their enterprises. This Memorandum provides implementing guidance on actions required in Section 1 of the Executive Order.

Managing Agency and Government-wide Cybersecurity Risks

The Executive Order recognizes the increasing interconnectedness of Federal information and information systems and requires agency heads to ensure appropriate risk management not only for the agency's enterprise, but also for the Executive Branch as a whole. In particular, agency heads are required to manage risk commensurate with the magnitude of harm that would result from unauthorized access, use, disclosure, disruption, modification, or destruction of a Federal information system or Federal information.¹ The Executive Order directs agency heads to produce a risk management report to the Director of Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) within 90 days of its publication.

An effective enterprise risk management program promotes a common understanding for recognizing and describing potential risks that can impact an agency's mission and the delivery of services to the public.² Such risks include, but are not limited to, strategic, market, cyber, legal, reputational, political, and a broad range of operational risks such as information security, human capital, business continuity, and related risks.³ Accordingly, the Federal Government is adopting the Framework for Improving Critical Infrastructure Cybersecurity (the Framework) to manage the cybersecurity component of enterprise risk as directed in the Executive Order, consistent with prior OMB memoranda and circulars.

The guidance below provides agency heads with instructions for meeting the risk management reporting requirement in the Executive Order, including the methodology for how agencies are to submit their reports, and actions agencies are required to take to implement the Framework.

I. Designating Senior Accountable Official for Risk Management

Effective management of cybersecurity risk requires that agencies align information security management processes with strategic, operational, and budgetary planning processes. To support this alignment, on or before May 26, 2017, agencies must notify OMB of the senior accountable official (the agency head or a designated official) that will be responsible for implementing of Section 1(c) of the Executive Order. If the agency head delegates this authority, the individual must be a direct report to the agency head, have vision into all areas of the organization, particularly those focused on risk management, possess authority for both funding and management of IT and enterprise risk, and be able to represent the challenges and opportunities across the enterprise.

Please submit the name of the senior accountable official to (b) (6) and your Resource Management Office (RMO) representative.

I. Reporting on Agency Risk Management Assessment

A critical component of implementing the Executive Order, as well as managing cybersecurity risk in general, is for agencies to understand risk in terms of agency mission and their ability to deliver necessary public services. The Executive Order directs each agency to provide a risk management report to OMB and DHS.

The FY 2017 FISMA CIO metrics provide a consistent methodology for assessing capabilities that address and/or mitigate cybersecurity risks. Accordingly, in an effort to minimize the reporting burden, all agencies, including all small agencies, must submit responses to the FY 2017 Quarter 3 FISMA CIO metrics, through the DHS CyberScope system, on or before

² See OMB Circular A-123, Management's Responsibility for Enterprise Risk Management and Internal Control, for additional guidance on managing enterprise risks.

³ See the Enterprise Risk Management Playbook for additional information.

July 14, 2017 in accordance with the deadline established in OMB Memorandum M-17-05 FY 2016 -2017 Guidance on Federal Information Security and Privacy Management Requirements. These submissions will serve as the agency risk-management report specified in Section 1(c) of the Executive Order.

Additionally, OMB and DHS will use the FISMA metrics to produce agency-specific risk assessment and will include these assessments in a report to the President in accordance with the Executive Order. OMB will provide initial assessments to agencies for review and responses no later than July 28, 2017, and will require each agency to provide a written response to the assessment that is signed by the agency head or the agency head's designated senior accountable official and describes how the agency plans to accept, avoid, transfer, or mitigate outstanding risks by August 9, 2017. OMB and DHS will also use the aggregate information in the report to the President, as it will serve as the basis for identifying new technology needs and areas in which government could consolidate services to improve the cybersecurity posture of the executive branch. At a minimum, the Chief Financial Officer Act agencies and small agencies will continue to conduct these risk assessments on a semiannual and annual basis, respectively, to enable tracking of agency performance and trend analysis against the Framework. OMB will provide reporting deadlines for these agencies as part of its annual FISMA guidance, in accordance with the statute. For more information on the risk assessment methodology, please refer to Appendix 1 of this memorandum.

II. Action Plan for Implementation of the Framework

The Executive Order requires agency heads to describe planned actions that his or her agency will undertake to align their agencies' activities with the Framework. The Framework provides a standard for managing and reducing cybersecurity risks, organizing capabilities around its five function areas: Identify, Protect, Detect, Respond, and Recover. The Framework, when used in conjunction with NIST Special Publications 800-39, Managing Information Security Risk: Organization, Mission, and Information System View, and 800-37, Risk Management Framework to Federal Information Systems, as well as other associated standards and guidelines, provides agencies with a comprehensive structure for making informed, risk-based decisions and managing cybersecurity risks across their respective enterprises.

Illustrating the value of utilizing the Framework to organize cybersecurity decision making, OMB and DHS have already worked with CIOs and Inspectors General (IG) across the Executive Branch to align the FISMA metrics to the Framework's function areas. To increase consistency regarding cybersecurity capabilities and budgeting activities, OMB also aligned the Information Technology (IT) Security portion of the FY 2018 IT Budget Capital Planning Guidance with the Framework. This alignment has helped to standardize common vocabulary and the fundamental definitions used in security, mirroring the standardization that is increasingly necessary and useful with private sector suppliers, vendors, and industry partners. Eventually, this will allow greater sharing of best practices within the government and between government and industry; increase alignment of IT security requirements and capabilities across the executive branch; and, enhance efforts to improve the state of cybersecurity risk in both the public and private sectors.

In describing the agency action plan to implement the Framework, agencies must include:

- The status of planning, organizing, and submitting IT Budget materials, as directed in the FY 2018 IT Budget Capital Planning Guidance, that are aligned with the Framework;
- Proposed internal management of cybersecurity risk using the updated metrics aligned to the Framework;
- A timeline to map existing and planned capabilities with the Framework functions; and
- Proposed use of the terminology and concepts in the Framework to organize and communicate cybersecurity activities and outcomes.

All agencies, including small agencies, must submit their Framework Implementation Action Plan in .PDF format through DHS CyberScope by on or before July 14, 2017, in addition to responding to the questions in CyberScope.

NIST will provide a plan for updating its guidelines, as appropriate, to incorporate elements of the Framework.

Conclusion

As we implement the direction of the Executive Order, it is vital that you remain personally engaged in monitoring the progress of your agency. OMB and DHS will be working with your agency to improve cybersecurity risk management. Your support is critical to that improvement.

Appendix 1: Criteria for Assessment of Cybersecurity Risk Management

As set forward in Section 1(c) of Executive Order on Strengthening the Cybersecurity of Federal Networks and Critical Infrastructure, OMB will provide agencies with an assessment of agency cybersecurity risk management. The risk management assessment will rely on information submitted by agencies pursuant to FISMA and OMB Memorandum M-17-05, FY 2016 -2017 Guidance on Federal Information Security and Privacy Management Requirements. Specifically, the risk management assessment is a snapshot of each agency's cybersecurity risk posture based on those metrics and outcomes agencies submitted.

To produce this risk management assessment, OMB will use a combination of FY 2016 FISMA Inspectors General \(IG\) metrics and FY 2017 FISMA Chief Information Officer \(CIO\) metrics, which leverage the NIST Framework for Improving Critical Infrastructure Cybersecurity (the Framework). The security-based outcomes were sorted into Security Domains, each of which has been organized under one of the five NIST Framework functions: Identify, Detect, Protect, Respond, and Recover. OMB will rate agencies under each of these Security Domains according to their current level of risk:

- High Risk: Key, fundamental cybersecurity policies, processes, and tools are either not in place or not sufficiently deployed, creating a high risk environment for the agency's information and systems.
- At Risk: Some essential policies, processes, and tools are in place to mitigate overall cybersecurity risk, but significant gaps remain that place agency information security at risk of compromise.
- Managing Risk: The agency has instituted required information security policies, procedures, and tools and is able to actively manage the cybersecurity risk to the enterprise.

The risk levels for each Security Domain are then used to calculate the overall risk level for the function area (e.g., Identify as at risk, and Detect as managing risk).

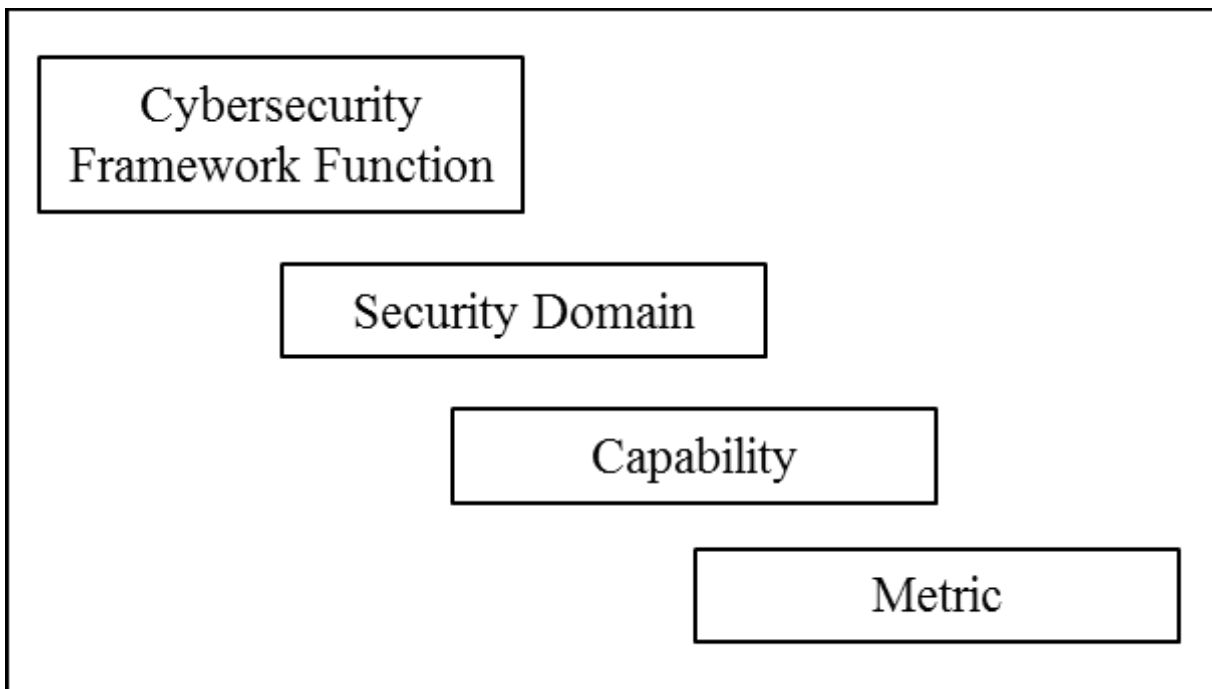

In addition to the FISMA metrics in this assessment, agencies are required to provide narrative responses regarding their risk management decision processes. OMB will use this information to gather relevant context for the agencies' risk management assessment, specifically how an agency assesses, responds to, and monitors risks. Agencies are asked to:

1. Provide a narrative assessment of the cybersecurity risks to the agency. This assessment should include risks to the agency's High Value Assets and Mission Essential Functions, as well as results of agency level and program specific security reviews.
2. Describe the strategy or approach for managing the identified risks, including decisions to accept or mitigate risks within the enterprise, including decisions to accept, transfer, or mitigate risk. Please consider specific risk factors (threats, vulnerabilities, likelihoods, and impacts) that have driven risk management decisions and include the strategic, operational, and budgetary considerations that went into the decisions, especially related to any accepted risk from unmitigated vulnerabilities.

3. Describe gaps that have been identified and the capabilities needed to resolve the highest priority risks. Additionally, provide whether the agency has aligned its efforts and resources (budget, tools, people, and processes) to provide for the capabilities needed to close these gaps.
4. What role does the agency's senior leadership play in the development and ongoing implementation of the agency's cybersecurity risk management strategy, and how does this strategy integrate with the broader enterprise risk management process required by Circular A-123? Please include a description of the processes and procedures that are in place to keep senior leadership apprised of risks within the enterprise, including the frequency of senior leadership engagement, and the impact that this senior leadership engagement has on decisions related to how resources are allocated.

Below is a description of the Framework functions, as well as the Security Domains and the capabilities that underlie them. Additionally, each capability includes a reference to the FISMA CIO or IG metric that will be used to determine whether the agency is currently engaging in the activity at the government-wide target level.

Identify

The capabilities in the Identify function are foundational for effective use of the Cybersecurity Framework. Understanding the business context, the resources that support critical functions and the related cybersecurity risks enables an organization to focus and prioritize its efforts, consistent with its risk management strategy and business needs. Identify includes the following Security Domains:

Asset Management and Authorization – In order to promote a robust information security posture, agencies must ensure that systems operating on their networks are appropriately authorized to operate and that, overall, they understand the assets connecting to their networks. This helps to manage the risk of threat delivery and initial system compromise.

- The organization's hardware assets are covered by an enterprise-level automatic hardware asset inventory capability. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 1.2, 1.4)
- The organization's software assets are covered by an enterprise-level automatic software asset inventory capability. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 1.2.1, 1.2.2, 1.5)
- The organization's unclassified networks possess a technology solution to detect and alert on the connection of unauthorized hardware assets. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.16)
- The organization's endpoints and mobile assets are covered by a capability to detect, alert, and/or block unauthorized software from executing. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.17)
- The organization's unclassified systems have active security ATOs. (FISMA CIO Metrics: 1.1.1, 1.1.2, 1.1.3)
- Ongoing information system authorizations are based on the risk to operations and assets, individuals, other organizations, and the Nation should a compromise occur. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.11)

Comprehensive Risk Management – Information security is reliant on frequent assessments of the risks to the systems and information operated by a given organization, and the results of these assessments must be incorporated into how the agency conducts its business and operations. This helps to manage the risk of threat delivery, initial system compromise, and threat persistence.

- The organization has developed a risk management function with a comprehensive governance structure and organization-wide risk management strategy. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.2)
- The organization incorporates mission and business process-related risks into risk-based decisions at the organizational perspective. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.3)
- Information system-level risk assessments integrate risk decisions from the organizational and mission/business process perspectives. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.4)
- The organization provides timely communication of specific risks at the information system, mission/business, and organization-level. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.5)
- The organization performs comprehensive assessments to categorize information systems in accordance with Federal standards and applicable guidance. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.6)
- The organization implements appropriate baseline security controls based on mission/business requirements and policies. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.8)

- Officials at the program- and executive-levels are actively involved in the ongoing management of information-system-related security risks. (FISMA IG Metrics, 1.1.15)

Protect

The Protect function seeks to develop and implement the appropriate safeguards to ensure delivery of critical infrastructure services and supports the ability to limit or contain the impact of a potential cybersecurity event. Protect includes the following Security Classes:

Remote Access Protection – In an ever more interconnected world, it is vital to promote the security of remote connections to Federal IT resources and information in order to defend against the delivery of potential threats, initial system compromise, unauthorized credential access, cyber defense evasion, and the lateral movement of adversaries.

- Remote connections utilize FIPS 140-2 validated cryptographic modules. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.20.1)
- Remote connections timeout after 30 minutes of inactivity. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.20.2)
- Remote connections prohibit the use of split tunneling and/or dual-connected remote hosts. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.20.3)

Credentialing and Authorization – Federal agencies must have an understanding as to who is on their networks, what their privileges are, and how often those privileges are reviewed in accordance with the principle of least privilege. Such knowledge and control can reduce the risks posed by initial threat delivery, threat persistence, privilege escalation, cyber defense evasion, unauthorized credential access, internal reconnaissance, lateral movement, system observation, and information exfiltration.

- Unprivileged network users are technologically required to log onto the network with a two-factor PIV card or other NIST LOA 4 credential. (machine-based enforcement) (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.4, 2.4.1)
- Privileged network users are technologically required to log onto the network with a two-factor PIV card or other NIST LOA 4 credential (machine-based enforcement). (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.5, 2.5.1)
- Users with privileged local system accounts are technologically required to log onto the network with a two-factor PIV card or other NIST LOA 4 credential (machine-based enforcement). (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.11, 2.12)
- The organization's physical access control systems electronically accept and authenticate PIV credentials for access. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.17)
- The organization ensures all users are only granted access based on the principles of least privilege and separation of duties. (FISMA IG Metrics, 2.2.2)
- The organization tracks and controls the use of administrative privileges and ensures privileges are periodically reviewed and adjusted in accordance with policy. (FISMA IG Metrics, 2.2.7)
- The organization identifies, limits, and controls the use of shared accounts. (FISMA IG Metrics, 2.2.9)

Network Protection – The threats posed to Federal networks are diverse, and agencies must have robust policies and procedures in place to defend against the potential dangers they pose. Such measures help to defend against threat delivery, initial system compromise, command and control threats, lateral threat movement, threat persistence, and cyber defense evasion.

- The organization's unclassified networks are assessed for vulnerabilities using Security Content Automation Protocol (SCAP) validated products. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.2)
- The organization's assets are covered by auditing for compliance with the appropriate security configuration baseline. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.31, 2.3.2, 2.3.3)
- The organization's unclassified networks are covered by a capability that blocks unauthorized devices from connecting. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.1)
- Government furnished endpoints and mobile assets encrypt data at rest. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 1.2.1, 1.2.2, and 2.19)
- Organization possesses an Insider Threat program deemed by the National Insider Threat Task Force to be at Full Operating Capability. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.35)
- An enterprise-level policy is in place that covers the destruction of media containing sensitive information. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.36)

Detect

The Detect function necessitates the ability to identify the occurrence of a cybersecurity and enables timely discovery of cybersecurity events. Detect includes the following Security Classes.

Anti-Phishing Capabilities – One of the most persistent and pervasive threats to Federal networks is the social engineering attack known as phishing, which attempts to obtain information from individuals through the use of legitimate-seeming identities to distribute infected file attachments and websites. Anti-phishing technologies help to defend against the delivery of potential threats as well initial system compromise.

- The organization's users demonstrate understanding of phishing threats by passing associated tests. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 2.3, 2.3.1)
- Incoming email traffic passes through anti-phishing and anti-spam filters at the outermost border mail agent or server. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.1)
- Incoming email traffic is analyzed using sender authentication protocols. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.2)
- Incoming email traffic is analyzed using a reputation filter. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.3)
- Incoming email traffic is analyzed to detect for clickable URLs, embedded content, and attachments. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.4)
- Incoming email traffic is analyzed for suspicious or potentially nefarious attachments and opened in a sandboxed environment or detonation chamber. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.5)
- Outgoing email traffic enables recipients to verify the originator using sender authentication protocols. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.6)

Malware Defense Capabilities – Often a component of phishing attacks, malware is the larger category of malicious software designed to infect and compromise information systems and data. Defending against malware incidents is important in order to defend against the delivery of potential threats, initial system compromise, and cyber defense evasion.

- Endpoints are covered by an intrusion detection system. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.7)
- Endpoints are covered by an antivirus solution using file reputation services based on continuously updated malware information. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.8)

- Government furnished endpoints are covered by an anti-exploitation tool. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.9)
- Government furnished endpoints are protected by a browser-based or enterprise-based tool that blocks known phishing websites and IP addresses. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.10)
- The organization's assets are scanned for malware prior to an authorized remote access connection to the unclassified network. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.11, 3.11.1)

Exfiltration and Other Defense Capabilities – Phishing and malware are only two of the many threats facing Federal networks, which is why it is important for agencies to have robust defense beyond those targeting these two categories of threats. This is particularly true with regards to detecting and responding to the potential external transfer of Federal information. These controls provide a bulwark against not only threat delivery and initial system compromise, but also internal reconnaissance and data exfiltration.

- Users with privileged network accounts have a technical control limiting access to only trusted sites (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.12)
- Inbound network traffic passes through a web content filter, which provides anti-phishing, anti-malware, and blocking of malicious websites (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.13)
- Outbound communications traffic is checked to detect encrypted exfiltration of information (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.14)
- Emails are processed by systems that quarantine or otherwise block suspected malicious traffic (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.15)
- The organization has the ability to detect attempts to access large volumes of data and investigates such instances (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.19)
- The organization conducts exfiltration tests at least annually (FISMA CIO Metrics, 3.18)
- EINSTEIN tools are fully implemented (Department of Homeland Security)

Respond

The Respond function seeks to develop and implement the appropriate activities to take action regarding a detected cybersecurity event and supports the ability to contain the impact of a potential cybersecurity event. Respond includes the following Security Classes.

Planning and Processes – An essential component of strong incident response activities is having plans and procedures in place should a vulnerability be uncovered or an incident occur and regularly testing those capabilities to ensure they operate effectively. Such planning and processes can prevent the initial compromise of systems, privilege escalation, and lateral threat movement, as well as mitigate the potential impact of incidents.

- The organization mitigates all significant vulnerabilities within 30 days of notification (DHS NCATS Vulnerability Scans)
- The organization has an enterprise-level incident response plan that is tested at least twice annually (FISMA CIO Metrics, 4.1, 4.6)
- Incident commanders are empowered to direct and manage cybersecurity incidents (FISMA CIO Metrics, 1.6)
- Incident response roles have been validated during or prior to incident response testing (FISMA CIO Metrics, 4.5)
- Incident response processes are consistently implemented across the organization (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.3.1.5)

- The organization has processes in place to collaborate with DHS, and other parties as appropriate, to quickly acquire incident response resources and assistance (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.3.1.6.)

Evaluation and Improvement – In order to ensure incident response activities function as intended, it is vital that agencies utilize metrics and evaluation criteria to assess their programs as part of an effort to continually improve response performance. These efforts can help to improve the efficacy with which the agency is able to lessen the impact of incidents.

- Qualitative and quantitative data is utilized to determine the effectiveness of the organization's incident response processes (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.4.1.4)
- The organization has institutionalized a process of continuous improvement incorporating advanced cybersecurity practices (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.5.1.2)
- The rigor, intensity, scope, and results of incident response activities are comparable and predictable across the organization (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.3.1.9)
- Data supporting incident response measures and metrics are obtained accurately, consistently, and in a reproducible format (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.4.1.5)
- Incident response metrics are reported to organizational officials charged with correlating and analyzing the metrics in ways that are relevant for risk management activities (FISMA IG Metrics, 4.4.1.7)

Recover

The Recover function seeks to develop and implement the appropriate activities to maintain plans for resilience and to restore any capabilities or services that were impaired due to a cybersecurity event and supports timely recovery to normal operations to reduce the impact from a cybersecurity event. Recover includes the following Security Classes.

Planning and Testing – As in the case of incident response, a strong incident recovery program requires advanced planning of activities as well as testing of those plans to ensure they execute properly. This enhances agencies' ability to restore capabilities and/or services following an incident or disaster.

- The organization has a business continuity plan at the enterprise-level that is tested annually (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.5)
- The organization has incident recovery plan at the enterprise-level and it is tested annually (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.6)
- The organization has a disaster recovery plan at the enterprise-level and it is tested annually (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.7)
- The organization has developed and maintains documented recovery strategies, plans, and procedures at the division, component, and IT infrastructure levels (FISMA IG Metrics, 5.1.3)
- The organization develops and facilitates recovery testing, training, and exercise (TT&E) programs (FISMA IG Metrics, 5.1.1)
- The organization incorporates Business Impact Analysis and Business Process Analysis into analysis and strategy toward the development of continuity and recovery plans (FISMA IG Metrics, 5.1.2)

Personal Impact Processes – For those cases in which personally identifiable information (PII) has been, or potentially could have been, compromised, it is imperative that organizations have in place capabilities to notify affected persons and provide them with necessary identification protection tools and/or services. This ensures that agencies are providing potentially affected persons with timely information and identity protections tools, which helps to preserve public confidence in the government.

- The organization has a policy in place that establishes a timeline for public and internal notifications following the detection or discovery of a compromise of PII. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.8)
- The organization has established metrics for tracking compliance with the timelines set forth in applicable policy and fully adheres to its policy. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.9, 5.3)
- The organization has either contracted credit monitoring services in the case of a breach of PII or produced cost projections based on potential scenarios. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.11)
- The organization has either contracted credit repair services in the case of a breach of PII or produced cost projections based on potential scenarios. (FISMA CIO Metrics, 5.10, 5.11)

Back-Up Capacity – If an organization loses the capacity to execute upon its mission, whether due to an incident or a disaster, it is important that back-up facilities and capabilities have been designated and are prepared to come online. Such capabilities enhance organizational resilience and aid in the restoration of agency capabilities and services.

- The Organization has identified, through risk assessments, alternate processing and storage sites that are not subject to the same physical and/or cybersecurity risks as the primary sites. (FISMA IG Metrics, 5.1.8)
- Backups of information are conducted at the user- and system-levels that protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of backup information at storage sites. (FISMA IG Metrics, 5.1.9)

Small Agencies, Boards and Commissions,

As part of implementing OMB guidance M-17-22, agencies will be taking critical steps in June and July to push forward their reform plan and workforce planning efforts. Following-up on the PMC meeting and our engagement with Agency Reform Plan leads, this email provides additional detail on the high-level Agency Reform Plan drafts that agencies will submit on June 30th.

June 30th Agency Reform Plan requirements. Specifically, per M-17-22 agencies will submit the following to OMB by June 30th:

1. Plan to Maximize Employee Performance
2. High-level Agency Reform Plan draft
3. Near-term Workforce Actions

These items will be collected through an online tool called MAX Community and MAX Collect. More information on the fields due by June 30th is available on our internal MAX page, Appendix 11:

(b) (6). We will follow-up with a specific link to the MAX Community and MAX Collect pages once available.

In addition, by June 30th agencies will submit a summary of their draft strategic plans. Agencies have flexibility on the format of this information to OMB, which will also be posted to a MAX Community page.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to reach out to Julie Crump or your OMB RMO.

Best,

Asma Mirza

Subject: Reminder to Agencies to Submit Updated Shutdown Plans to OMB
Date: Tuesday, July 18, 2017 6:39:03 PM

Colleagues,

Agencies are reminded of the following requirements in OMB Circular A-11, section 124, related to planning for a possible lapse in appropriations:

“124.2 What plans should my agency make in anticipation of a lapse in appropriations?”

“Agency heads, in consultation with their general counsels, must develop and maintain plans for an orderly shutdown in the event of a lapse in appropriations. Up-to-date plans must be on file with OMB. Whenever there is a change in the source of funding for an agency program or any significant modification, expansion, or reduction in agency program activities, the agency must submit an updated plan to OMB for review that reflects this change. In updating their plans, agencies also should note any changes made to their plans in light of their experiences during any recent lapse in appropriations. At a minimum, agencies should submit updated plans to OMB for review every two years, starting August 1, 2015...”

Please work with your agency to submit an updated plan to your OMB examiner by August 1, with a copy to (b) (6). Additional information about agency planning is available in section 124 of Circular A-11, https://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/omb/assets/a11_current_year/s124.pdf.

In April 2017, pursuant to P.L. 114-287, the "Federal Assets Sale and Transfer Act of 2016" (FASTA), the General Services Administration (GSA) and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) jointly issued a data call for federal agencies to submit recommendations for the sale of high value assets and the execution of disposal and consolidation projects. Under FASTA, agencies are responsible for identifying disposal and consolidation projects to OMB and GSA to support OMB's development of a list of project recommendations for use by the Public Buildings Reform Board (Board), which FASTA established. In addition to a robust and comprehensive list of disposal and consolidation projects, per section 12(b) of FASTA, the Administration requested that federal agencies identify high value sale properties to generate government-wide sale proceeds of between $500 and $750 million.

Office of the Press Secretary

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
September 15, 2017

CONSTITUTION DAY, CITIZENSHIP DAY, AND CONSTITUTION WEEK, 2017

- - - - -

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

On the 230th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States, we celebrate the enduring brilliance of our Founding Charter and recognize all American citizens. Older than any other written constitution in use today, our Constitution establishes a system of checks and balances designed to preserve liberty, promote prosperity, and ensure the security of our beloved country. On this day and during this week, we recall the people and the principles that made our Nation great and commit ourselves to restoring that greatness.

Our Constitution is founded on a fundamental trust in America's citizens. "We the People," the Constitution proclaims, are the source of all governmental authority. We are, as President Lincoln declared in the war-torn fields of Gettysburg, a "Government of the People, by the People, for the People." That is why we must be particularly mindful of a would-be ruling class that has lost sight of this foundational truth. In the drive for progressive reform, our Federal Government has grown beyond belief and has layered regulation on top of burdensome regulation. American citizens and businesses face an unrelenting onslaught of rules and regulations adopted by an army of regulators unaccountable to the citizens they seek to control.

My solemn promise as President is to return power to the American People -- to the workers and the warriors who made this Nation great and will make it great again. Restoring this founding principle of accountability requires us to once again respect the structural safeguards of our great Constitution. The Framers of our Constitution sought to preserve liberty by separating government power. In our constitutional system, the Congress is charged with authoring and amending the laws, in accordance with its beliefs about what will benefit our country. The President's duty is to execute those laws and protect the Nation, consistent with the Constitution. And the Judiciary's role is to faithfully apply the Constitution and the laws to resolve specific cases and controversies. Modern government, however, has rebelled against the constraints inherent in these defined roles, abandoning that original design in favor of a centralized system of out-of-control agencies that claim independence from elected leaders and demand deference from the courts.

On this day and during this week, I call on all citizens and all branches of government to reflect on the original meaning of our Constitution, and to recall the founding principles we too frequently forget: Our government exists to preserve freedom and to serve its citizens. We are accountable to the People. And the public deserves clear, intelligible laws that are enacted through an open, Constitutional process.

As the elected head of the Executive Branch, I call on Federal agencies to reduce the crushing burdens of the regulatory state and to restore fairness, transparency, and due process in all regulatory matters. We are here to enable the greatness of our Nation, not to restrain it. I call on the Congress to take up critical legislative measures, and to work together to set free the full potential of our People. I call on Federal judges to apply the law as it exists, not as they wish it to be -- to exercise, in the words of our Founders, "neither force nor will, but merely judgment." And I call on all American citizens to pursue greatness in their lives through hard work and the insistence that their government exists only by the people, and for the people, of this great land.

The Congress, by joint resolution of February 29, 1952 (36 U.S.C. 106), designated September 17 as "Constitution Day and Citizenship Day," and by joint resolution of August 2, 1956 (36 U.S.C. 108), requested that the President proclaim the week beginning September 17 and ending September 23 of each year as "Constitution Week."

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DONALD J. TRUMP, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States, do hereby proclaim September 17, 2017, as Constitution Day and

Citizenship Day, and September 17, 2017, through September 23, 2017, as Constitution Week. On this day and during this week, we celebrate the citizens and the Constitution that has made America the greatest Nation this world has ever known. In doing so, we recommit ourselves to the enduring principles of the Constitution and thereby "secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this fifteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord two thousand seventeen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and forty-second.

DONALD J. TRUMP

The effective and efficient management of these funds is critically important to achieving agency goals and objectives. Improving the timely closeout of Federal grant awards will improve accountability and oversight in grants management. This memorandum applies to all agencies (as defined in section 551 of title 5, United States Code) that award grants or cooperative agreements, and sets forth the requirements for the reporting of certain information pursuant to the Grants Oversight and New Efficiency (GONE) Act (Pub. L. No. 114-117, 130 Stat. 6 (2016)).

Background

Enacted on January 28, 2016, the GONE Act requires the head of each agency to submit to the Congress, in coordination with the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) a report on Federal grant and cooperative agreement awards which have not yet been closed out and for which the period of performance, including any extensions, elapsed for more than two years. The Act also sets forth follow-on reporting and analysis requirements by various entities. Only "Federal grant awards" (meaning grants and cooperative agreements as defined in sections 200.51 and 200.24 of title 2, Code of Federal Regulations, or any successor thereto) are subject to the Act. Other types of financial assistance, including loans, are excluded from the reporting requirements of this Act.

Pursuant to the OMB Uniform Guidance in 2 CFR § 200.343(b), recipients of grants and cooperative agreements must liquidate all obligations incurred under their awards within 90 days after the end of the period of performance, unless the Federal awarding agency authorizes an extension or program-specific statutes specify a different liquidation period.

Summary of Required Agency Actions

- I. By November 15, 2017, all agencies must submit in the Other Information section of their Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 Agency Financial Report (AFR) or Performance and Accountability Report (PAR):

- a. A brief high-level discussion on a subset of GONE Act information, including:
 - i. A summary table (shown below) of the total number of Federal grant and cooperative agreement awards and balances for which closeout has not yet occurred but for which the period of performance has elapsed more than two years with zero dollar balances and undisbursed balances.

CATEGORY	2-3 Years	>3-5 Years	>5 Years
Number of Grants/Cooperative Agreements with Zero Dollar Balances
Number of Grants/Cooperative Agreements with Undisbursed Balances
Total Amount of Undisbursed Balances

- ii. A brief narrative of the challenges leading to delays in grant and cooperative agreement award closeout and planned corrective actions to address these challenges;
 - iii. If an agency is unable to submit all of the information required to be included in the report, an explanation of why the information was not available or practical to collect, including any shortcomings with and plans to improve existing grant systems, including financial management or payment data systems;
 - iv. If an agency prepares an annual report other than an AFR or PAR, this summary information shall also be reported in the report where the entity deems it most appropriate.
- b. In addition, agencies must submit a listing of every Federal grant or cooperative agreement held for which closeout has not yet occurred but for which the period of performance has been expired for more than two years, as well as any undisbursed or zero balances in that award, using the MAX site at (b) (6). Only grants and cooperative agreements whose period of performance ended on or before September 30, 2015 should be included in this submission in descending order from the oldest to the most recent, including the following data elements:
 - i. Federal Award Identification Number (FAIN)
 - ii. Award Title
 - iii. Predominant CFDA Number
 - iv. Awardee/Recipient Legal Entity Name*
 - v. Grant/Cooperative Agreement Period of Performance End Date
 - vi. Amount of ["funds remaining in" or "undisbursed funds in"] the grant account, including zero dollar balances
- c. For the 30 oldest Federal grants and cooperative agreements of an agency for which closeout has not yet occurred but for which the period of performance has been expired for more than two years, an explanation of why each Federal award has not been closed out.

- II. By November 15, 2018, each agency shall submit with their FY 2018 AFR or PAR (or similar report):
- a. A brief follow-on discussion in the Other Information section on a subset of GONE Act information, including:
 - i. The progress made in closing out grant and cooperative agreement awards listed in their previous GONE Act submission, challenges that remain, and any remaining actions to be taken.
 - ii. A summary table similar in format to the FY 2017 submission that includes the total number of cooperative agreement awards and balances for which closeout has not yet occurred but for which the period of performance has elapsed more than two years with zero dollar balances and undisbursed balances.
 - b. Using the MAX application at (b) (6) agencies shall provide an update specifying which of the Federal grant and cooperative agreement awards listed in their FY 2017 GONE Act MAX submission have been closed out and which have not been closed out since the previous submission. Agencies will need to report on the same data elements as listed in Section I above.

Summary of Required HHS Actions

- I. The Secretary of HHS, in consultation with OMB, shall submit a report to the Congress containing the information required by the Act that is not otherwise publically available by February 15, 2018.
- II. By February 15, 2019, the Secretary of HHS shall compile and submit an update to the Congress specifying the grant and cooperative agreement awards each agency has subsequently closed since their initial report and which awards have not been closed out.

To: Small Agency Council Principal Management Officials and Alternates

The following note is being sent on behalf of OMB.

Two points of contact from each agency are being requested by Tuesday, October 17. These points of contact will be provided access to MAX to complete the exercise.

Please send your points of contact and any questions to Gilbert Tran at (b) (6) Xanthia James at Xanthia.James@hhs.gov; and Elena Wright Elena.Wright@hhs.gov.

Thank you,
Jeff Rich

We are asking for assistance in identifying two points of contact (POCs) for each Federal agency for the following time sensitive MAX Collect exercises that affect the finance and grants communities.

Grants Oversight and New Efficiency (GONE) Act:

By November 15, 2017, the heads of all agencies are directed to report through the MAX Collect porta (b) (6) the following information as listed in OMB Management Procedures Memorandum No: 2016-04, "GONE Act Reporting of Unclosed Grant and Cooperative Agreement Awards for Which the Period of Performance Has Expired More Than Two Years (attached):"

- (1) A listing of every Federal grant and cooperative agreement with period of performance ending on or before September 30, 2015 that have not been closed out. This should include awards with zero dollar balances and undisbursed balances; and
- (2) An explanation for why the 30 oldest Federal grants and cooperative agreement have not been closed out.

Separately, agencies must also report the summary table and brief narrative in the Other Information section of the FY17 AFR or PAR by November 15, 2017. The detailed information entered in the MAX Collect exercise above should be consistent with the summary information in the agency's AFR or PAR.

Agencies that do not award grants or have no open grants that meet the criteria in (1) above are required to state that information in the MAX collect exercise.

Please provide the POC information to Gilbert Tran at (b) (6) Xanthia.James@hhs.gov; and Elena Wright Elena.Wright@hhs.gov by Tuesday, October 17, 2017.

Subject: RE: Small Agency ListServe

Hi Gilbert,

I have a list of e-mails addresses for small agencies who have chosen to be part of the small agency council. The POC's on that list are what we call Principal Management Officials who are usually the heads of the administrative operations of the agency. I don't have a list of all small agency contacts as not all of them have chosen to participate in the SAC.

If my list satisfies your need, I'm happy to send your note electronically on your behalf (it is not easy for me to send the list itself---I have tried to do this in the past). If you want the full list of all agencies, I'm fairly sure that some of the organizations in OMB, OPM or GSA have a list of Agency Heads of all agencies----I've seen memos to that list in the past.

Thanks and let me know if I can help.
Jeff

Hi Jeff, I have inquired Jeff Donahue on 10/06 about the Small Agency List Serve, but have not received any response. Thus I am checking with you for your help.

Do you have a Listserve to your member organizations? We need to send a note related the reporting requirements under the GONE Act (reporting of expired accounts), with the deadline of November 15, 2017. The note is similar to this attached one we sent out for the CFO agencies.

Thanks in advance.
